Dear Friends,

Last month I spent eight days staying at St. Beuno's in North Wales. I was there for an eight day silent retreat – yes, no talking, working or reading for eight days. It was a wonderful 'set apart' time.

For many hours I watched, I listened, I walked, I prayed. Sometimes I felt the intense warmth of the sun, sometimes the chill of the breeze and sometimes the sting of heavy rain. It reminded me of St. Benedict's instructions at the beginning of his 'Rule of Life' for his monks, 'Listen my child with the ear of your heart.'

I spent time watching the sky, listening to the birds, the sounds of the wind in the trees and rustles in the undergrowth and acknowledging the beauty of the world around me and the incredible creativity of its Great Designer, God.

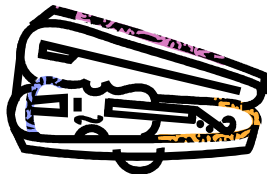

When I came back I read a story which really spoke to me then and continues to speak to me in the busyness to which I've now returned. Maybe it will speak to you.

At a Metro station in Washington DC, a man started to play the violin. It was a cold January morning. He played six Bach pieces for about 45 minutes. During the rush hour it was calculated that thousands of people went through the station. After three minutes a middle aged man stopped for a few seconds and then hurried on. A minute later, the violinist received his first dollar tip tossed into the box by a woman without slowing her stride. A few minutes later, someone leaned against the wall to listen, but after looking at his watch began to walk quickly on his way. The one who paid most attention was a three year old boy. His mother hurried him along, but the child stopped in front of the violinist. Reluctantly the boy was dragged away, looking back all the time.

During the 45 minutes the musician played, only six people stopped and stayed for a while. He collected $32. When he finished playing a silence took over, no one applauded him or showed any signs of recognition. The violinist was Joshua Bell, one of the world's finest musicians. He had played some of the most intricate pieces ever written, with a violin worth $3.5 million. The event was organised by the Washington Post as part of a social experiment about perception and the priorities of people.

I have a feeling I'm not the only one who, in our frenetic multi-tasking world, needs to stop, to look and listen if we are to hear the beautiful music all around each one of us. What a gift!

With every blessing,
Sue Wilson

Shhhhhhhhh.....

Springfield is a hostel in Kendal for vulnerable women aged from 17 yrs which takes referrals from all over Cumbria, providing a safe and secure environment which helps women to recover their self esteem, emotional well-being and belief in themselves in order to move on and live an independent life. The hostel is in a lovely old house but the kitchen is in desperate need of an update. The staff want to create a modern and practical space where they can cook with the women. In order to get our fund raising campaign for our new kitchen started Susan, the Manager and some of the residents are holding a ten hour sponsored silence on 2nd November at the hostel. Anyone who knows Susan or has visited Springfield and heard the chat will realise what a challenge this is.....!!

If you would like to sponsor us please call us on 01539 720313 or email springfieldhousehostel@yahoo.co.uk
Thank you :-)

Saint John's Church: Levens

Our worship in September and October including Harvest will centre on: Our Daily Bread – Food in God's Creation – how the food we need is produced, shared, sustained.

Holiday Club. 14 children came to our "Use Your Loaf Fun Day" including children from neighbouring villages with contacts in Levens. The theme was food and sharing – loosely based on the feeding of the 5000. We baked bread. (three people showed great persistence in grinding real flour from wheat), made our lunchtime soup from the single vegetable each participant contributed, went on a food walk to search for food available within the village, made place mats & grace cubes, and played games. Sincere thanks to all helpers and all the children who brought such enthusiasm to the day.

Prayer Cycle

We invite you to join us in praying for our village; for those who live in it, those who work in it, and those who visit. In October we think especially of Bell Hill.

PCC meeting

7 September 2011

Future events and services, including Christmas were arranged; church fabric and finance were discussed. A recent safety inspection has shown that St John's spire needs some urgent attention. It is hoped that the most immediate part of the work can be started shortly. Resources are being sought to carry out further necessary repairs. An estimate that could amount to £13,000 has been received. The PCC will report soon on the progress of work and funding and possibly make an appeal for help towards these essential costs.
